SATURDAY, Nov. 20. 18 75. Corner St no of the New Court House.

A copy of this week's issue of the Orangeburg NEWS AND TIMES will be placed in the corner stone for the new Court House, the laying of which is to take place, with Masonic ceremonies, on the 25th inst. In view of this fact we have thought it not inappropriate to record below the names of our various public and private organirations, societies, churches, and public officers, together with a list of our business men, and the nature of their present occupations. Silently and reverentially will this data be consigned, on Thanksgiving Day, to a place where it will be securely sheltered from wind and rain, and from moisture and decay. Hence, when we and ours are sped, succeeding generations may find, in the corner stone of the Orangeburg Court House, interesting traces of what we are to-day For whe her the time be short or long, that the News AND TIMES shall rest entombed in the corner stone for the public edifice now going up, it will undergo no material change, it will retain these faithful imprints of the present. And let us hope that whatever may be the fate in store for us and Orangeburg, that the corner stone, to be thus laid with Masonic solemnities, will never be molested by invading tyrants' hands, nor jostled in its bed by the martial, tread; of, our enemies. We understand that, all the Masonic fraternities in the county will be present. MASONIC ORGANIZATIONS.

We trust that we have succeeded in giving a correct list of the business men of Orangeburg, in the above directory, and that future ages will one day learn from the corner stone of our New Court House, the names of those who are the prominent men of to-day in the history of Orangeburg.

Maj. A B. Knowlton.

We are gratified to announce that our article of last week, which referred to the election of Circuit Judges, and in the course of which Maj. Knowlton was suggested as a candidate for one of the upper Circuits, has met the unqualified approval of some of the leading Republicans in the State. The Aiken Tribune-one of the ablest papers in South Carolina -says that he 'has already established a reputation all over the State as a sound lawyer, an accomplished journalist and a gentleman of the good old school."

It is gratifying to all faithful Republicans to have the Major thus complimented. If ever there was a fearless friend to the rights of all people, that man is A. B. Knowlton He esteems the constitution above all human laws, arxl will, if elected, give to all parties even handed justice. This paper was the first journal in he State to nominate Gov. Chamberlain This journal is the first to nominate Major F.nowlton for Judge. We predict that our latter nomination will be equally as successful as our
